Abstract

The present document is intended to describe the activities for developing the practice abstracts of the SKIN project. A first set of 70 good practices on short food supply chain (SFSC) has been submitted to the EC for their appraisal and to be fed into the EIP-AGRI website for a broad dissemination. Starting from the facets of the EIP-AGRI official format, the report describes the characteristics of the updated format arranged by the SKIN partners and how the additional information can enhance the quality of the data collection, a substantial number of outcomes/recommendations on SFSC to be delivered to the practitioners for exchanging Good Practices. Moreover, data collection methodology and process are described, as well as the reader will find the number of the Good Practices collected so far and stored in a repository available on the project website. Finally, this deliverable provides a checklist for guiding the evaluator into the EIP-abstracts delivered to the European Commission.

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under grant agreement N°728055.
